ADVISORS TALK AT CONVENTION OF ADVERTISERS

Delegates Listen to Three Members of Late Conservative Gov't.

(By The Associated Press.)
LONDON, July 15.—The second day of the international advertising convention today was partially devoted to listening to advice by three members of the late conservative government, Stanley Baldwin, Sir Robert Horne and Sir Phellip Lloyd-George on the direct effect advertising would have in establishing a new economic life and sound prosperity in the nations of Europe.

The delegates again filled the conference rooms for this morning when the convention sessions close. This afternoon and Wednesday the delegates will attend 25 sectional meetings.

The general session this morning was under chairmanship of Lord Leverhulme, a member of the first Conservative government and one of the first to utilize advertising described in detail the long and hard struggle he had fought in England before the manufacturers and public would even agree to consider its advantages.

The delegates stood up and gave former Premier Baldwin rousing cheers when he arose to speak on the platform, during his address, which was a sound business man's talk with out a trace of the knowledge of advertising he had picked up as head of the board of trade, as chancellor of the exchequer and as prime minister.

Mr. Baldwin referred to the need of advertising in the business world at the present day. He said he had twice been slain by tariffs, one of which was the McKinley tariff, but at both times he has been able to recuperate with the aid of advertising.

What the world needed today was good honest advertising between nations so that the public merchants, politicians and governments would know each other for their honest worth.

He said the world needed the League of Nations and suggested they might be a league of honest advertising to do the same thing with the peace of the commercial world.

The former premier said his term of office as chancellor of the exchequer had convinced him that advertising was a necessary thing to business. Now that he had graduated to be a business director he had been working on the principle.

Advertising had done in the United States and he was out to follow that example and see what it would do in England.

MAJOR M'LEARY IS BELIEVED IN A MENTAL LAPSE

Missing Army Officer Now Thought to Be Wandering in Mountains

(By The Associated Press.)
ASHEVILLE, N. C., July 15.—Discouraging for the time the theory of foul play, government and civil officials and private citizens redoubled their efforts today in the search for Major Samuel H. McLeary, in the belief that the missing army officer is wandering, mentally unbalanced, somewhere in the mountains of Western North Carolina.

This opinion is shared by Miss Bonnie McLeary, of New York City, sister of Major McLeary, and J. S. Ainsworth, of Austin, Texas, one of his friends, who, undiscouraged by the failure of searching parties last night and yesterday, had a trace of the officer, came here together to join in the hunt.

Ainsworth expressed confidence that Major McLeary, who was a part of the country following a mental lapse, probably resulting from wounds received in the world war or a sunstroke he suffered several years ago and possibly leaving his automobile, lost himself in the wooded sections in this vicinity.

Suggestions that financial or domestic troubles might have played a part in his disappearance, vigorously were denied by both Miss McLeary and Ainsworth.

Virtually the only undisputed fact gleaned so far since Major McLeary dropped out of sight in Raleigh on July 2, is that his automobile, which he was traveling from Norfolk, Va., to a new post at Fort Monrith, S. C., fell into the hands of two men whose identity has not been established.

How they obtained the machine, which was abandoned near a farm in Canton, near here, on July 3 and where yet are elements of mystery, Canton is about 100 miles from Raleigh and in the opposite direction from Columbia, S. C., where Major McLeary intended to stop first.

He was last seen at the North Carolina capitol city.

An explanation is sought of the finding of clothing and personal effects belonging to the officer hidden near the abandoned automobile.

Authorities now say they are not so certain that spots on one of his regulation caps were made by blood as at first had been believed.

Posses of officers and civilians led by Major S. M. Williams, U. S. A., of Asheville, and Lieut. Herron of Washington, a friend of Major McLeary, learned yesterday that two men, both of whom were said to be strangers in this locality, attempted to cross the Buck Creek Cemetery this afternoon.

County Policeman J. V. Dolan, who shot and killed them here late yesterday is being technically held, awaiting a preliminary hearing.

The two men were shot when they refused to allow the officers and his assistants, officers Dickey and Prince to search their automobile.

(By The Associated Press.)
GASTONIA, N. C., July 15.—Armed guards are being maintained about the home of A. C. Lineberger, Belmont cotton mill owner, as a result of a series of anonymous threatening letters, it became known here today.

The letters began with threats of kidnapping members of the Lineberger's family and blowing up the home, but finally wound up by begging that if the identity of the writer was disclosed there be no prosecution.

The first letter, received ten days ago, demanded that $1,000 be placed at a designated spot on the lawn of the Lineberger home. It threatened that if this were not done the house would be dynamited and that a child of the family would be kidnapped.

Officers were notified and a dummy package placed at the designated spot. The officers kept watch over the package but no one came.

After several days another letter was received apologizing for having caused a disturbance and asking that if the identity of the writer was discovered there be no prosecution.

The guards have been maintained, however.

Body of Mrs. John Christian, Wife of Richmond Merchant Discovered After Disappearance With Her Infant Last Night—Bloodhounds Led to Discovery.

(By The Associated Press.)
RICHMOND, Va., July 15.—The body of Mrs. John B. Christian, wife of a merchandise broker here, was found in the James River, at the Kanawha Canal this morning after an all night search by Richmond and Henrico county police.

The authorities were unable to find any trace of Mrs. Christian's infant who was carried by the mother when she left her home yesterday afternoon.

Search for the mother and her infant was started late last night when Mrs. Christian failed to return to her home. Her steps were traced by bloodhounds from the house to the banks of the old canal and when it was apparent to the officers conducting the search that the woman had entered the canal, the water was drained from it and the body found on the bottom.

There is still enough water in the canal to hide the body of the six-month-old child and the officers are continuing the search in the belief that the baby went to its death with the mother.

There were no marks on Mrs. Christian's body to indicate she had been murdered and police and relatives said they were convinced the woman had committed suicide and probably her infant. The police were so firm in their belief that they turned the body over to the relatives declaring: "It's not a case for the coroner."

Relatives of Mrs. Christian said she had suffered a nervous breakdown recently, following the illness of her children, eight, six and three years of age and the infant.

BILLY SUNDAY DOUBLED!

Rev. R. R. Brown, of Omaha, Neb., lets his congregation stay home while he delivers his sermons to them by radio. Here he is at the microphone, with Marilyn Jean, his one-year-old daughter, who was named the "Radio Baby" by his congregation.

OMAHA, Neb., July 15.—Rev. R. R. Brown of this city is the Billy Sunday of radio.

He takes off his hat and coat and preaches to them till the perspiration pours down his face.

Country Gifts.

In return this is his reward: Gifts of country butter, fresh eggs, honey, cake, homemade candy and many other things that used to make up a country clergyman's pay were ago.

Brown is fully satisfied with it. He devotes practically all of his time to his radio congregation. His year-old baby, Marilyn Jean Brown, has been nicknamed the "Radio Baby" by his radio congregation.

And if Brown accepted all the invitations of his radio congregation to chicken dinner, he'd be on the road all year.

Pines are among the few trees that can grow at a high altitude. The greatest height above sea level is not so great as the greatest depth that has been poked below it.

Big Following.

Sunday after Sunday Brown prepares his sermons for his ever-growing radio congregation. By plowing through more than 6000 appreciative letters, he has learned he is being consistently listened to by a congregation that covers the entire middle west.

"I see 'em all in the steel-framed circles of my microphone," Brown declares. "There's the husband who won't go to church with his wife. There's the gang at Billy's billiard hall."

"There's a little consumptive girl who is taking the fresh-air cure. There's an old couple out on the farm who wrote me, 'you have brought Sunday back to us.'"

"There's a little lad in the school for the blind who says I am making a good boy out of him. There's a chap out in a car inspector's shanty who hasn't gone to church for years because he has to work on Sunday. And there's a little group of worshippers in a country school house in

BANDIT ESCAPES IN DENSE WOODS

CHICAGO, July 14.—Fleeing toward Chicago after murdering a deputy sheriff who was guarding a bank at Frankfort, Ill., the alleged slayer and his girl companion were intercepted by Midlothian police through the town at seventy miles an hour. Sheriffs waiting for the pair took up the chase, firing into the racing car. The bandit driver, said to be Ralph Robinson, alias Ralph Miller, finally jumped from the car and escaped in the dense woods thereabouts. The driverless car crashed into a ditch and the girl was unconscious when she was taken from the wreckage.

Revived at the police station she admitted she was Grace Asbury, a waitress of Davenport, Iowa. She said Robinson had planned to rob the Frankfort bank but they encountered Ernest Miller, a deputy sheriff, who mounted the running board and began questioning them. The bandit drew an automatic and shot Miller through the heart.

She says there were four men in Robinson's gang and the other three were in another car. No trace of this car or the men has been found, although the girl says it also started for Chicago immediately after the murder. She says the second car carried a large quantity of ammunition and guns, drills, explosives and other paraphernalia for safe robbery.

MAKES FORTUNE WITH FLIVVER

JIM CUMMINGS' WIFE AND CHILDREN. CUMMINGS IS SEEN IN INSERT.

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill., July 15.—Jim Cummings lost his job—and made a fortune because of it.

A little while back he was "broke" and on the verge of losing a life from his neighbors.

Cummings—perhaps he will sign his name James Earl Cummings—now sits here with his wife and half dozen children. He is 32.

Until he was thrown out of employment he was a truckman. Before that he was a truckman. Before that he was a truckman. Before that he was a truckman.

Today he is worth a million and a half. And royalties are beginning to come in the thousands.

And he can thank the "old family" for his good fortune.

"The family was about to be bankrupt," Jim explains. "We owned an automobile—one with a record of long service but disreputable aspect. I figured I might fix it up a bit and sell it."

And in the fixing operation he solved a problem that has been troubling scientists these last 1000 years. Accidentally he discovered a new hardening and tempering copper—lost art since the days of the old Egyptians.

In cleaning the caskets on his car, Cummings used a chemical mixture he haphazardly had concocted. Now one of the caskets was bent and Jim tried to straighten it. But each time he hammered the metal it flew back into its old bent position.

Jim couldn't understand it. He told a fellow-workman about it. The latter, being better acquainted with mechanics, informed the perplexed Cummings he had made an important discovery.

Exhaustive tests were made at a copper concern. A check for $1,500, already had been delivered him, along with a contract calling for royalties on every hundred pounds of copper treated with his process.

"I have been pestered to death by automobile and stock salesmen," says Cummings.

"I don't know a lot about stocks, but I do know this old bug of

Julius Fleischmann
Divorced in Paris

NEW YORK, July 14.—The friends of Julius Fleischmann, millionaire yeast manufacturer and former distiller of Cincinnati and New York, were informed today following his return from Europe on the Berengaria yesterday that his trip abroad was to comply voluntarily with the French formalities necessary to clear the way for a divorce action in Paris by his wife, Mrs. Dolly Leach Homingway-Fleischmann, with the purpose that she may marry Jay O'Brien, polo player, former husband of Irene Fenwick, and Mae Murray and one of the debonair figures of Broadway.

The Fleischmanns separated some months ago. Fleischmann had settled a large fortune on her when they were married after his divorce from Mrs. Lily Fleischmann in 1920 and the divorce of the bride from Louis Homingway, who was once a very wealthy silk merchant, but is now an employee in a moving picture concern.

Jay O'Brien was their guest while he was playing at the Fleischmann polo field at their great country place at Sands Point, L. I., a year ago. Unauthenticated stories in circulation today agreed on a large settlement made on Mrs. Dolly Fleischmann by the millionaire when he accepted the papers in her action in Paris. His more intimate friends put no stock in these reports, saying that the marriage settlement provided generously for all the wife's needs in living as luxuriously for the rest of her life as she had since her marriage to Fleischmann, when he came ashore from the Berengaria was in obvious good humor and without referring to his marital affairs directly told his friends who met him at the pier, in the hearing of others that everything was working out all right and he was quite satisfied.

Fires Revolver
Zaghloul Pasha

By A STANLEY PARKER
CAIRO, Egypt, July 14.—Egypt is horrified by the news of the attempt to murder Premier Zaghloul Pasha while boarding a train for Alexandria this morning. Zaghloul Pasha was accompanied by his ministers. He was leaving Cairo in order to attend to the funeral of a friend in Alexandria tomorrow on the occasion of Courban Dairam, the most important Moslem holiday of the year.

The station was thronged with a huge crowd of cheering admirers. Just as Zaghloul Pasha was about to step into the coach a young Egyptian pushed his way through the crowd and drew out a revolver from his pocket and fired pointblank at Zaghloul Pasha's head. Zaghloul instinctively threw up his arm in order to protect himself, recovering the bullet just above the elbow. Without this self-defense gesture Zaghloul Pasha would certainly have been killed. The premier tottered backward but was saved from falling by bystanders.

The crowd set on the assailant and beat him with sticks and kicked him almost killing him when the police charged and rescued the criminal and threw him into the nearest coach. The mob stormed the coach and was only stopped from finishing the assailant by a guard giving the signal to pull out of the station.

Immediately after the news of the attempt to kill the premier a rumor spread like wildfire that the assailant was an Armenian. Many gangs of hoodlums started forming and moving towards the Armenian quarter, where the terror-stricken shopkeepers and closed and barred their places. Looting and possibly massacres were only averted by the authorities by promptly ordering officials in motor cars to the danger points to inform the crowds that the assailant proved to be an Egyptian.

Suicide Frustrated
By a Wooden Leg

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)
NEW YORK, July 14.—When Russell B. Hayward, 39, despondent over failure to overcome the drug habit decided to drown himself he forgot about his cork leg and it saved his life.

Hundreds were walking through Battery Park or standing at the sea wall, viewing the harbor late tonight when Hayward took a header from the Battery into the bay.

His cork leg brought him quickly to the surface and defeated his efforts to sink. James Welber, of Brooklyn, who has a stand for renting marine glasses, saw the cork leg, hoisting around and went overboard without removing any of his clothing.

When he swam out to Hayward he had a difficult time because the drowning man by poking him with the artificial limb, was able to keep him at a distance. Finally, however, he succeeded in overpowering him and, catching a line tossed from an excursion boat, pulled him to safety.

Police sent Hayward to Bellevue hospital for observation, after, they say, he declared drugs had so ravaged his nerves life was no longer worth living. Hayward said he had no home and had tried without avail to reform.

Fine Progress on Convention Fund

The results of the first day's canvass by committees representing the Chamber of Commerce to raise five thousand dollars as a fund for the entertainment of the State convention of the American Legion in this city August 25 to 27, closed with a total contributed or subscribed for the day of approximately $3,300. Those were the figures given out at the close of the day's reports by E. R. Dikkes, secretary of the chamber. This leaves a balance of about $1,700 yet to be plaid to complete the effort of the chamber which has underwritten the expense of the convention and the entertainment of the visitors during their stay in Danville.

The canvassers' committees, the personnel of which was published in this paper last week, are made up of the most aggressive men in the city, and they have been well organized and have taken up the work systematically and with energy and enthusiasm. So clearly and definitely has the territory been canvassed by each committee been delineated that little or no crossing of lines or duplication of work has been done. Although conditions were not deemed particularly propitious for such an undertaking at this season of the year, the day's results sufficiently indicate how closely and carefully the various committees have done their work. Only a few of those chosen to serve as canvassers failed to respond to the call; others, however, were either absent from the city or had some valid excuse for their failure to work. All the others, however, put in a good day, untiringly by the effort entailed and the uncomfortable temperature prevailing during a large part of the day.

One noteworthy feature of this canvass is the large number of small subscribers, rather than any number of large subscribers. As yet the canvass has been limited to the business or mercantile districts, and the response amply attests the earnest interest and the good will in helping to support this fund. Practically everybody called upon by the committee made a contribution or subscription, even if it were no more than a half dollar, but in some instances the subscriptions were very generous. Whenever practicable, it is preferable that the contributors do so with cash in order to save the canvassers or anybody else the inconvenience and trouble of having to make a later call, particularly when the subscription or donation is small.

All the committees will start out this morning with renewed vigor and a more earnest determination to finish up their undertaking today, if possible. In order to facilitate and expedite the work of the committees any who will kindly do so are asked to mail their cards with the amount subscribed recorded thereon to C. L. Booth, treasurer.

In the background of the drive stands the Danville Post of the American Legion through whose energy, intelligence and public spirit the Legion convention was secured for Danville and the real appeal. The committees are going to carry the movement to a successful conclusion, it matters now how long it may take, for, verily, "There is no such word as fail" in the vocabulary of these canvassers, who are working for the interest and welfare of the whole city, and who earnestly desire to assure the handsome and fitting entertainment of the city's honored guests on this occasion.

LIKES HIS NIP OF GRAPE JUICE

LINCOLN, Neb., July 15.—Charles Wayland Bryan, Democratic nominee for vice-president, is held up as a model of a man who likes his nip of grape juice.

Like his famous brother, William J., he goes in for grape juice and skull caps.

But where the "Commoner" is of medium height and leaning to corpulence, "Brother Charley" is a big, upstanding man.

He's more than six feet tall with lots of pep. He holds his head up, shoulders back and walks with swinging, vigorous stride. And he has a bristling white mustache, whereas William J. is smooth of face.

They call Charles Bryan "Brother Charley" because for more than 20 years he has lived in the shadow of his brother's greater fame.

But he has been THE Bryan in Nebraska ever since his election to the governorship in 1922. He has been the acknowledged leader of the State's dry forces ever since William J. quit Nebraska for Florida.

The new Bryan in national politics is 37 and has lived in Nebraska for 31 years, coming here from Salem, Ill., where he was born.

He was a traveling cigar salesman for a time. Then when his brother got important enough to have a private secretary, "Brother Charley" got and a typewriter press. The News-Leader now is in its twenty-second year. It represents a consolidation of The Leader, which was owned previously by The Times Publishing Company, and of The News, which had belonged to the family of the late John L. Williams, which also had been the principal stockholders in The Dispatch Company.

In 1903, The Leader and The News were combined as The News-Leader and operated by the Williamses while The Times and The Dispatch became The Times-Dispatch, operated by the late Joseph Bryan. Subsequently, in 1908, the Bryans purchased The News-Leader and ran it independently of The Times-Dispatch until 1914, when they sold The Times-Dispatch.

Present owners of The News-Leader are John Stewart Bryan, president and publisher; J. St. George Bryan, the estate of Thomas P. Bryan, Allen Potts and Douglas Freeman, all of Richmond.

NEW BARBER SHOP TO OPEN SATURDAY

R. C. Shelhorse has equipped the basement under the Hotel Burton for a first class barber shop, which he expects to open to the public on Friday of this week. The style of the firm will be the Commercial Barber Shop. It is centrally located and is convenient to all the business men of the city, and will be equipped with the very latest barber fixtures. There are two entrances to the shop, one from Main street and one from the lobby of the Hotel Burton. There are also two large shower baths in connection with the barber shop. The room is well ventilated and lighted, and with the special furnishings and equipment should prove an unusually good drawing card to those who want the best in this line. Mr. Shelhorse has had twelve years' experience in this line of work, and especially in the shop, which will insure the dispatch of the work without long waits.

PARTY AT WHITMELL

Misses Lina and Beattie Powell entertained a large crowd at their home near Whitmell on Saturday evening, beginning at eight o'clock, having good string music, dancing and playing game which were enjoyed very much. All left at 11:30 declaring they had spent a most enjoyable evening.

From the city room, doors lead into the library, which is twenty by sixty feet; into the office of The Associated Press and into the rear corridor. The office of the telegraph editor and the private branch telephone exchange is on the opposite side of the telegraph room. The quarters of the business manager are at the southwest corner of the building.

The composing room occupies the whole of the third floor and is a single large apartment, unbroken by partition walls, except for the locker room and lavatory. The shower baths and the main wash-rooms are on this floor, though there are separate toilet facilities on each floor. The refrigerating plant is on the fourth floor, which otherwise is left vacant for future use. The kitchen (expressing machines in the composing room are in a quadrangle around the foreman's desk.

Below the mailing room, forty by twenty feet, and below the advertising, auditing and circulation departments is the casting room, the press room, the electric room, the machine shop and the boiler room. The matrices are rolled on the third floor and sent to the casting room by a gravity chute. There they are cast on two junior autoplates, with automatic finishing machines. From the time the matrices are cast in the casting box until it is delivered to the pressmen, it is touched only once by hand.

The press equipment consists of two super-speed duplex presses, with a rated capacity of 40,000 forty page papers each hour. These are set above a large, open, tight motor, or on top of six feet, containing the ink reservoir, the air compressor and the two 125 h. p. motors for the presses. ## Car Turns Over 16 Times in Plunge Remarkable indeed in that the consequences were no graver than they actually were was the automobile accident in Patrick county Sunday afternoon in which an Essex coupe containing W. Mortimer Harrison and Miss Mary Spencer, of this city, were driving on the mountain road in the rugged country approaching the famous Lovers' Leap from the eastward. While a short distance east of Lovers' Leap a lofty promontory, adjusting into a sea of mountains, the steering gear of the coupe in some way developed a derangement which prevented Mr. Harrison's keeping the car in the road, and, despite his desperate efforts to hold the car, it plunged off the road-side and rolled down, down, down until it brought up in the underbrush or thickets some distance down, having overturned sixteen times in its rolling plunge.

As the car continued rolling down a gradual declivity in which thickets or heavy underbrush showed the downward progress of the uncontrolled car, Miss Spencer in some manner was hurled or rolled out of the window, yet without being caught and crushed under the weight of the wheels or chassis. Her injuries were slight, as indeed are Mr. Harrison's, considering the perilous descent he involuntarily made. Dr. C. Bruce Williams, of Danville, happened to come up in his car just after the mishap, he saw the car and, in fact, brought Miss Spencer and Mr. Harrison back to Stuart. Mr. Harrison was the most severely injured of the two and he had to seek medical attention, but even he had no bones broken and sustained no serious injury.

As far as known, the mishap was attributable solely to the wrenching of the steering gear in some manner as to render it inoperative. It was the defect developed so suddenly and unexpectedly that this could not have been or its effects on the movement of the car forestalled. The car itself was not seriously injured.

This is the third recent instance of automobiles leaving the roadway and plunging down embankments, yet by remarkably fortuitous conditions and circumstances, none of the occupants of the cars was seriously injured in any of the three overturns.

DR. HALL'S SERMON AT EPIPHANY SUN.

"Whole image and superscription do we hear," was the theme of the sermon preached by Rev. Dr. J. Cleveland Hall at Epiphany church Sunday morning, following the regular morning prayer service for the Fourth Sunday after Trinity. Dr. Hall read the portion of the twelfth chapter of the Gospel of St. Mark, relating the episode in the ministry of Jesus of Nazareth, when the Pharisees and Herod's partisans attempted to entrap Him in conversation by asking whether it was allowable to pay tribute to Caesar, or not, and the reply Jesus made to them when they had brought a coin of the realm: "Whose image and superscription is this?" And Jesus said unto them, "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and unto God the things that are God's."

Jesus had quickly discerned their thought and the counterfeit of respect they showed Him, and taught them by an object lesson that the outward part may be the counterfeit of the real, but is surely disavowed by the nature as perishable and short lived, and real ownership soon determined by those who observe. This coin bore the image and superscription of Caesar, therefore it belonged to Him.

Dr. Hall, continuing, drew a striking analogy between the material coin of our realm, with its eagle and flag, symbols of our country's unity and strength; the avowal of our trust in God as a religious nation, and man, created in the image and likeness of God, the great ruler of all things, bearing outwardly on his body the likeness of the ruler of his inward heart and mind. He said that our nation is not a christian nation but a religious nation and that christians are known from among the rest by the image and likeness of Jesus Christ, and are taken note of just as the disciples were when "the people took note of them that they had been with Jesus." But some who profess to be christians, outwardly showing respect, are discerned to be selfish, greedy, gluttonous, drunken, malicious, thus showing behind the outward form the real ruler to whom they pay tribute. Every man is a living epistle, known and read of all men continually. In closing Dr. Hall asked his people to remember that the christian desire above all things to wear the image and superscription of Christ Jesus "written not with ink, but with the Spirit of the living God, not in tables of stone, but in fleshy tables of the heart."

IF BILIOUS, SICK! TAKE NO CALOMEL

"Dodson's Liver Tone" Straightens You Up Better Than Salivating, Dangerous Calomel and Doesn't Upset You—Don't Lose a Day's Work—Read Guarantee

You're bilious! Your liver is sluggish! You feel lazy, dizzy and all knocked out. Your head is dull, your tongue is coated, breath bad, stomach sour and bowels constipated. But don't take salivating calomel! It makes you sick, you may lose a day's work. Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel crashes into your bile like dynamite, breaking it up. That's when you feel that awful nausea and cramping.

If you want to enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced, just take a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone tonight. Your druggist or dealer sells you a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents under my personal money-back guarantee that each spoonful will clean your sluggish liver better than a dose of nasty calomel and that it won't make you sick.

Dodson's Liver Tone is real liver medicine. You'll know it next morning because you will wake up feeling fine. Your liver will be working, your headache and dizziness gone, your stomach will be sweet and your bowels regular. You will feel like working; you'll be cheerful; full of vigor and ambition.

Dodson's Liver Tone is entirely vegetable, therefore harmless and can not salivate. Give it to your children—adv.

HOME RUNS ONLY HIGH LIGHT IN POINTERS WIN

HIGH POINT, July 14.—The Patriots suffered a defeat here this afternoon at the hands of the Herndonmen to a tune of 11 to 5 in which numerous home runs were the only feature.

Both pitchers got off to a bad start and O'Quinn, on the mound for the Patriots, was yanked in the first frame after two hits had been made off him out of four batters to four and none out. The Patriots made four runs off Hunter in the opening frame due to Cox's home run with the bases loaded after which the Pointer heaver settled down and allowed only one additional market to cross the pan.

The locals won the game in the first inning when six runs were pushed across. Allison hit a triple with the bases loaded. Hunter hit one out of the lot in the sixth frame with none on, nl the seventh G. Thrasher duplicated the feat under the same conditions after which Schmidt rode one out of eight with one runner perched on the bag.

Manager Carroll was out of the game due to a suspension and Teague filled the menu at the hot corner.

DURHAM TEAM BLOWS UP AND LEAFS HAND THEM LICKING BY 7-2 SCORE

DURHAM, July 14.—In a poorly played game, from the standpoint of the local fans, the Tobacco City team of the Carolina League today in the opening game of the series, 9 to 2. Masters pitched well throughout and allowed one less hit than did the two opposing hurlers but his team mates booed the game away behind him.

In the second inning Myers walked, Cochlin was safe on an error by the shortstop who made a play at second to get Myers and booted it. Ernest hit, and Mallonee threw to the plate to Catcher Myers, the latter hitting Myers on the shoulder and bounced into the bleachers, letting in two runs. Regan walked, filling the bases after Wilson was safe on an error and Murphy singled and Regan scored while Wilson was caught at the plate.

In the following inning Bill Ernst hit a triple with one on for the run in that frame.

In the fourth round, after Regan had doubled McDonald singled and Regan scored, McDonald scored a moment later on a walk and a hit.

The last Danville run came in the eighth when Trefry walked, Regan hit and Tref scored when McDonald's blow was booted.

The Bulls scored in the third when Brummitt walked, was advanced to second on a hit and scored on another swat. The other local run came in the fifth when Bourg walked, stole second and scored on Smith's single.

Regan was the hitting star of the day with four safe blows in as many times at bat.

Kearns, a new second baseman from the Pacific Coast League, reported to Manager Bourg today and was worked at second. He showed little apt for starting a beautiful double play. However, he arrived in town at 11 a. m. today and was rushed into a uniform and was tired out.

WERTS PITCHES TWO HIT SHUT OUT AGAINST CAPS.

WINSTON, July 14.—Werts pitched brilliantly here this afternoon and turned the Capitals back with 2 hits and a string of goose eggs in the run column. The two hits made off his side were of a freak nature. The ball out of reach of Jackson for one of the blows and the other was a ground ball that took a bound over Pitcher Werts' head and went for a safety. The locals pounced on eleven hits that netted six runs. Off Ross, Werts struck out nine batters.

Inman led the hitting with three safeties, a triple, a double and a single.

Lee, a semi-pro outfielder from Kannapolis, N. C., has been signed by the Twins and looked well in today's game, getting two hits. Mackie who was recently injured at Danville, sliding into second base will be out for probably three weeks. Pitcher Lankeneau has been signed by the locals.

LAW AGAINST CHANGING CLOTHES IN AUTOMOBILE
(By The Associated Press.)
SAVANNAH, July 14.—Aroused over what it terms the increasing practice of dressing and undressing in automobiles on public thoroughfares by persons who change from street clothes to bathing suits, the town council of Tybee, a seaside resort near here, passed an ordinance today prohibiting the custom and imposing penalties for violations.

The new law makes it unlawful "for any one to dress or undress in any automobile, motor car, motor truck or motor vehicle or any other vehicle of any kind whatsoever, within the city limits. The penalty is a fine of $100 or 30 days in jail."

Local Men Finish Second Gate City

A brilliant 75 by Tully D. Blair, of Greensboro, overshadowed the Cat City's sweeping victory over Raleigh and Danville, Va., at the Greensboro Country Club Saturday afternoon. The local team scored 59 points, Danville, 29 and Winston-Salem 18.

Blair's score of 75 was the best score that any player, amateur or professional, has made in the Greensboro tournament, who incidentally bettered by a single stroke both Robert Main, of Danville, and Paul Address, of Winston-Salem made 79. The nearest amateur to Blair was McKinnon, of Danville, with ar 83.

Blair went out in 37 and came home in 38. He shot beautiful birdies on the ninth, where he made a two, or the 13th, where he made a four, and on the 15th, where he made a three. There were no sixes on his card.

Most of the scores ran high and aside from Blair's work there was little of brilliance on the cards. Greensboro players, especially lower ranking players, showed much more steadiness than either Danville or Winston-Salem golfers and the victory was one of the most overwhelming in the tri-city series.

The three cities will meet next Saturday at Winston-Salem.

Alexander, of Chicago, Suffers Broken Wrist
(By The Associated Press.)
CHICAGO, July 14.—Grover Cleveland Alexander, veteran pitcher ace of the Chicago Cubs, suffering from a broken wrist, will not pitch for at least a month and probably not at all during the remainder of this season. Alexander it was learned today, has a fracture of the wrist, which two X-ray pictures failed to reveal since he was injured in Pittsburgh.

The veteran has won nine of twelve games thus far this season. His injury is the first serious accident to the club this year, but it has almost ruined Chicago's hopes as a pennant contender.

Pitcher Guy Bush, released to Wichita Falls, Tex., has been recalled and President Veech is anxiously for other pitching talent. Bush has had a winning streak in the Texas league.

Alexander it was learned today, has a fracture of the wrist, which two X-ray pictures failed to reveal since he was injured in Pittsburgh.

The veteran has won nine of twelve games thus far this season. His injury is the first serious accident to the club this year, but it has almost ruined Chicago's hopes as a pennant contender.

Pitcher Guy Bush, released to Wichita Falls, Tex., has been recalled and President Veech is anxiously for other pitching talent. Bush has had a winning streak in the Texas league.

AMERICANS FIGURING PROMINENTLY IN NEW OLYMPIC COMPETITIONS

Richards and Hunter, U. S. Tennis Stars, Defeat Australians—Andrew Charlton of Australia Breaks the World's Swimming Record—N. Y. Woman Wins Women's Swimming Contest.

(By The Associated Press.)
PARIS, July 15.—The Olympic campaign continues on all fronts today with Americans figuring prominently in the tennis, rowing and swimming competitions, while left hooks will replace half-nelsons at the valodrome d'Hiver, where boxing succeeds wrestling. In the latter sport the U. S. gained a majority of titles at stake.

Rowing on the Seine course at Argenteuil is attracting great interest this afternoon as the famous Yale University eight, unbeaten during the last two years, makes its final initial competitive appearance when it will face Canada and Holland in the second heat of the trials. Neither of the latter eights have shown enough thus far to warrant the expectation that they can beat the powerful American college shell.

Great Britain and Belgium meet in the first heat, while Australia, Spain and Italy will meet in the third.

In the double sculls trial Jack Kelly and Paul Costello, American holders of the Olympic title, will carry the American colors, with France and Hungary as their opponents. The Brazilian pair have drawn Switzerland in the second heat but are favored to win.

The high spots in today's swimming program at Les Tourelles are the finals in the 400 metre free style for women and the United States has a trio of stars. They are Miss Gertrude Ederle, Miss Helen Wainwright and Miss Martha Norelius. They are expected to score heavily. The other swimming feature will be in the 1500 metre free-style in which Arne Borg of Sweden and Andrew Charlton, of Australia, are likely to stage a record-smashing fight for first place. The United States stands no chance to score points in this event, as its entrants having been eliminated.

On the combes tennis courts the field of 32 starters in the men's singles has been reduced to 32 who will begin the third day's play with only France and America left.

Three American men stars, are Norris Williams, Watson M. Washburn and Francis T. Hunter, had comparatively easy going in disposing of their opponents yesterday. Vincent Richards, the fourth member of the star quartet, from the United States, had a holiday yesterday, as he had already attained a place in the third round of the singles.

Among the women stars, Miss Helen Wainwright, the American champion, will make her debut in France, with Mrs. Satterthwaite of England as her opponent. Miss Eleanor Goss will play her first match with Miss Canto Stamos of Greece, on the other side of the net.

While the foregoing are the major attractions of the day, the modern pentathlon, fencing and yachting tests are also being held in the vicinity of competitions appealing to all.

CHARLTON BREAKS SWIMMING RECORD

(By The Associated Press.)
PARIS, July 15.—1500 metres—Andrew Charlton, the Australian swimming star, won a signal victory in the final of the 1500-metre free-style swim in the Olympic competition today, leaving a row of world's records in his wake and scoring heavily over his Scandinavian rival, Arne Borg, of Sweden.

His time, 21 minutes 20.2 seconds, set a new world's mark for the whole distance, bettering by a wide margin the sensational new marks established by himself and Borg in the first day's swimming competition Sunday.

Charlton simply toyed with Borg, the Swedish purpose, today. The Australian, who was behind at one hundred metres, raced to the front in the second hundred and was never afterwards swam with a plain over-arm stroke, scarcely using his legs as a propelling force and gradually pulled away from the Swede, who appeared tired from his exertions in the preliminary heats.

Charlton, swimming in easy style, clipped one minute 53.2 seconds from the former Olympic record, held by Hodgson of Canada and one minute 44.5 seconds from the world record established by Arne Borg Sunday after Charlton himself had broken the previous mark that day.

(By The Associated Press.)
PARIS, July 15.—Andrew Charlton, the Australian swimming star, won the final of the 1500 metre swim, free style, in the Olympic competitions today.

Miss Martha Norelius, of New York, won the final of 400 metre Olympic swim for women, free style. Her time was six minutes 2.1 seconds. 1500 metre swim, free style: Andrew Charlton, Australia, first; Arne Borg, Sweden, second; F. E. Beaupaire, Australia, third; Hatfield, Great Britain, fourth; Katsuo Takahashi, Japan, fifth. Time 20 minutes 6.5 seconds.

Charlton's official time was 20 minutes 6.5 seconds, breaking the record established by himself Sunday in the Sunday trial was 21 minutes 20.2 seconds.

The third day of the Olympic swimming competition was featured by the same torrid weather as the first two days, making the sport much easier for the contestants than for the 8,000 spectators who crowded the seating capacity of the municipal swimming pool in Les Tourelles.

The United States qualified two men for the semi-finals in the 200 metre event, breast stroke, Robert D. Skelton, Illinois, A. C. and W. T. Kirschbaum, Hawaii, finishing first in the first and third heats respectively. Henning and Linders, of Sweden; Fling and Naw, of Great Britain; Demkoba, of Belgium; Plovny, Czechoslovakia; Hollosy, Hungary and Wyas of Switzerland, were the other eight men to qualify.

Chapman of Canada, owing to a disagreement between the Canadian Swimming Federation and the Canadian Olympic committee, did not start.

400 metre swim, free style, for women, final: Miss Martha Norelius, women's swimming association, New York, first; Miss Helen Wainwright, W. S. A., New York, second; Miss Gertrude Ederle, W. S. A., New York, third; Miss Helen Wainwright, Great Britain, fourth. Time 6 minutes 2.1 seconds.

Miss S. Hand, of New Zealand, quit after going 300 metres. Plain high diving, finals: Eve, Australia, first; Janson, Sweden, second; Clark, Great Britain, third; Ed Thrash, San Francisco, fourth; Vincent, France, fifth; Pete Des Jardenes, Miami, Florida, sixth.

RICHARDS AND HUNTER DEFEAT AUSTRALIANS

(By The Associated Press.)
PARIS, July 15.—Vincent Richards and Francis T. Hunter of the United States defeated Australia in the second round of the men's doubles of the Olympic tennis championships 6-1, 6-2, 6-2.

In the second round of the men's singles, Robson of Argentina 7-9, 6-4, 6-0, 6-1.

France lost one of her four entrants in the men's singles when Cousin was late in getting to the playing field and abandoned the match, the fourth round to Haanda of Japan.

In the women's singles, Miss Kathleen McKane, the Wimbledon champion, defeated Miss Debedom, 6-0, 6-2.

The wreath continued extremely hot. Miss Suzanne Lenglen, too the third straight day was a spectator.

R. Norris Williams second, and Watson Washburn, of the United States, both advanced another round in the singles this afternoon. Williams defeated MacNenau of Czechoslovakia, 6-2, 4-6, 3-6, 6-2, 6-1, while Washburn defeated Van Lennep of Holland, 2-6, 6-1, 6-1, 6-2.

After winning the first set easily, Williams pulled a ligament in his right ankle during the second set and limped throughout the remainder of the match. After dropping two sets in a row, while the pain of his injury obviously was troublesome, he made a gritty finish with other members of the American team cheering him on.

In the last part of the match the limp was so pronounced that Williams had to rely largely upon his head and his right arm. He used both superbly, out-thinking his opponent with the former and making fine placements with the latter.

Washburn began poorly but when he became his true self he had no difficulty in winning.

YALE WINS SECOND HEAT

(By The Associated Press.)
ARGENTEUIL, France, July 15.—The Yale competing in the Olympic rowing events, won the second heat for the United States in the eight-oared crew competition today, defeating Canada and Holland.

Thursday's finals by a brilliant exhibition of oarsmanship, leading the shell of Toronto University, representing Canada by 3 lengths, and Holland by five lengths in what seemed just a good workout for the Americans.

WESTERN PHENOMS PROVE FIZZLES

By BILLY EVANS
"It's the climate."

That is the way the folks out west explain many of the phenomena of their great country.

Baseball magnates are wondering if the climate might not work the other way relative to some of the star players of that section.

During the past two years several major league club owners have been badly jolted in their dealings with players hailing from the far west. For instance, John McGraw of the New York Giants paid $75,000 for Jimmy O'Connell in real money. The manager of the Giants figured O'Connell would win a place in the outfield and give the club a batting punch.

Most of the time since joining the Giants O'Connell has done bench duty.

Kamm a Great Flinger.

The Chicago White Sox paid a reputed price of $100,000 for Third Baseman Bill Kamm.

In the field Kamm has lived up to all advance notices, but hasn't done so well at the bat. Recently at his own request he was taken out of the game and given a few days' rest.

A year ago Connie Mack paid in the neighborhood of $50,000 for Third Baseman Sammy Hale. While Hale had previously been tried by Detroit and sent back, Mack was confident he would add much strength to the Athletics. Allowing for his nailing faults, the leader of the A's was confident he would supply a batting punch to his club.

Hale Slumps At Bat.

Last year Hale, who had batted around .350 in the Coast League, slumped to .228 with the Mackmen.

This year when he failed to do even as well, he was benched in favor of Riconda.

Probably the biggest disappointment of Mack's entire baseball career was the showing of Outfielder Paul Strand, recently sent to the Toledo club of the American Association. Strand was a $60,000 investment.

Last year, with Sale Lake in the Pacific Coast League, Strand led that organization in hitting with the remarkable average of .394 for 194 games. Strand, in amassing that average, made 325 hits, including 43 home runs.

13 triples and 66 doubles. He batted in 187 runs.

Strand Proves Failure.

Surely Strand will give my club a batting punch, thought Mack. With the Athletics he hit only a little better than .200.

They do say that the high altitude of Sale Lake City, where Strand played, plus the short fences, helped greatly in his 1923 Coast League batting spree.

"It's the climate," may be a proper explanation of the failure of some of the highly touted coast batting stars to come through. Four major league owners have spent a quarter of a million dollars for Kamm, O'Connell, Hale and Strand, and as yet haven't had much of a run for their money.

Grandstand Gaff

DANVILLE had no trouble in trouncing the Bulls yesterday and if the task is as easy as that victory, today's and tomorrow's games also go down in the won column. The Bulls romped all over the field but they were too wild to get a hit. As a result the herd got "up in the air" and for a while "kicked" everything that came their way. Six errors were charged against them. Shoaf or McWhirter will do the mound duty this afternoon and if they are "right," enough is said.

Eddie Regan has slumped in his strikeout spree. After a bad week with the willow, Eddie started the week yesterday in fine style. He didn't get but four hits out of four attempts. Looks like he has again found his batting eye.

Manager Herb Murphy got back into the game yesterday after an absence of some time on account of an injured leg. He had but two chances and handled these but two chances. With three bingles out of five efforts, With Myers putting up a good game at short, Murphy went to second until Staley gets back.

Pitcher McWhirter who also became ill on Sunday and did not accompany the team to the game yesterday, left this morning by train for Durham. It is said he will be able to work today, should Murphy elect him to pitch.

Myers continues to play a good game at the short field and is improving greatly in his hitting. Not a few times, lately, when Resco and McDonald were walked by opposing pitchers just to "get" Myers, he came through with a bingle. The timely hitting is what counts.

With Staley back, a new arrangement will be necessary again today. The team will go to short and third and Cochlin will go back to catching again, though the "blonde" receiver has been playing a mighty nice game at the hot corner. Should Murphy go to short Myers will replace Cochlin at third. Then again, Boss Herb may decide to give Wefers a try somewhere.

Umpires continue to hold the limelight in the Piedmont league. As a result of a rumpus in the dressing room over at Greensboro, Charlie Carroll, manager for the Patriots has been suspended indefinitely and fined $100 pending hearing of charges that he incited fans to attack Osborne in the dressing room. Carroll claims otherwise, declaring that he hustled the irate fans out of the room. One fan had already pushed his fist into the umpire's face. The incident resulted from a decision at the plate.

Rain Lowers Peaches' Quality.

ROANOKE, Va., July 15.—Recent rains have lowered the quality of peaches in this section of the State and have delayed their ripening, according to local orchardists, but have in no way interfered with the size of the crop. Local growers say they are expecting to gather one of the largest crops in the history of this part of Virginia. Carload shipments to northern markets will begin to move next week.

No one ever has discovered the secret of perpetual motion, although, scientifically, nothing in existence is ever still.

REVIEW OF PAST WEEK IN PIEDMONT LEAGUE

Last week in the Piedmont league furnished more real baseball at Stone-wall Jackson park than any week at home this season.

George Resco started the ball rolling by cracking out his eighth home run of the season in the ninth inning of the last game here with Raleigh after two were out and the score standing one and nothing favoring the opposition. Staley was on first base at the time and the crack broke up the ball game. On the two succeeding days Resco hit his ninth and tenth homers.

The locals took two out of three from the Capitals on the opening series of the week and the same ratio from the Twins in the closing series. This week the Tobaccoists will be on the road all six days meeting Durham the first half and Winston the last half. Next Monday they return home where they will take on the Bulls for three games.

"Slats" Ledbetter, making his debut in the Piedmont League uniform with Durham shut out Raleigh with six hits and on Saturday in his second start with Greensboro as the opposition, let that aggregation down with four hits and one run, Durham winning 2 to 1.

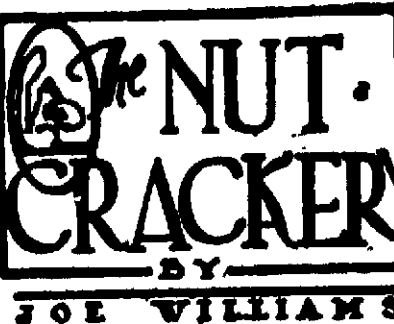

Tom Gheen turned the Capitals back twice in one afternoon last week and registered a shut out in the following only ten hits in the two second, a seven inning affair.

Durham is down to three pitchers following the indefinite suspension of Pitcher Hackney for alleged dickerings with independent clubs. Hackney, the property of Birmingham in the Southern Association, asked for his release and was refused. He hadn't won a game since June 28 and had been started in probably half a dozen.

Alex Gibson is back at Greensboro following an attack of neuritis and will probably be in condition to start on the hill for the Patriots in a few days.

Two new men, Sigman and Mackie, both outfielders, have been signed by the Twins. Mackie was hitting well but in a game here with the locals injured his ankle and will be out for some time. Sigman did not show so much. Mackie is a semi-pro and Sigman has had considerable experience in the Appalachian and Carolina Leagues.

George Resco, Tobaccoist, first sacker, probably established a record

YOUR UNCLE SAM
Your Uncle Sam is still the great-granddaddy of 'em all in the plain and fancy sports convention.

Mrs. Europe and her mob of muscle growers have been trying to make a crepe sandwich out of the old boy in the Olympics ever since the Mayflower set a new non-stop drifting record.

But they never get any closer than whispering distance, and trying to whisper to a guy who is used to bass harmony is all foolish and a laugh wide.

Any time your uncle squeezes his palpitating puppies into spiked shoes and slips on a set of junior size white pants he's ready to show the clients something besides a pair of knotty knines and two blushing ankles.

They may take the javelin annoyance, the steeplechase and the ear-wiggling regatta from him but that's because he isn't interested in parlor games and other phases of national imbecility.

True, losing the 100-meter dash to Mr. Abrahams, the Jewish boy, was unexpected. .... Mr. Abrahams was expected, it seems, but not so soon.

In the 200-meters your uncle led a stylish Paddock and trumped him with an ornate Shoiz. .... Your uncle is only snuffier in coral who can frighten something higher than ace out of deck.

Your uncle made clean sweep in burly shotgun. Winning ball cleared French boundary and hit Kaiser's long-beaked son in seat of hand-patched knickers, starting him off on another "orderly retreat to pre-arranged positions."

Europe can't savvy handsome difference between your uncle as statesman and athlete. As statesman, Europe can take him for everything, including a choice boob, but as athlete he performs like bright young fellow with all his marbles.

U. S. ATHLETES IN GOOD SHAPE FOR BOXING BOUTS

(By The Associated Press.)
PARIS, July 15.—America's 14-ring men went into the Olympic boxing competition today in excellent shape. All of the United States boxers made their weight in the eight Olympic boxing categories and all were ready for hard fights.

The U. S. won its first bout when Fidel Labarra of Los Angeles, a flyweight, defeated Warwick of Great Britain on points. The fast little American landed often on the Britisher's head.

For the Piedmont loop by accepting 20 chances in a nine inning game here while Johnny Myers handled fifteen recently.

The Tobaccoists are maintaining their position in the percentage column solely through the work of their pitchers. The team is hitting in fourth position with 267 and fielding 850 bringing up the rear in that department.

Pitcher Bob Matland, of Danville, a recent bridegroom, has been turned back to Charlotte. Matland, a brilliant luminary of the heavens mound with the locals last season, seemed unable to get started this season.

SENATORS WIN AGAIN WHILE YANKEES SPLIT EVEN IN DOUBLE BILL

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, July 15.—By doing one thing at a time and doing it well while the Yankees tried to kill two birds with one stone and failed, the Washington Senators have placed themselves in a position to overtake the American League leaders today. As a result of its victory over Cleveland and New York's division of a double-header with St. Louis, Washington is now one game behind the world's champions.

Finding Danforth rather soft, the Yankees breezed through the opener to a 7 to 3 triumph but in the sunset they were bereft for the third consecutive time by the puzzling shoals of Wingerd, their sensational rookie, a spite of Ruth's 25th and 26th homers. Hughes' aggregation dropped the final, 9 to 4. Ken Williams, who had been the Yankees' new outfielder, was benched for a pinch-hitter's home run in the second game.

Washington made it three straight over Cleveland with a 12 to 6 shut out. Judge made a triple, fourth, and a single and walked once in five at-bats, driving in five runs. In the absence of M. Manager Harris, who has been drawn an indefinite suspension for his Sunday run-in with Umpire Holmes, Blinzer played second and Taylor third for the Senators.

The down-trodden athletics sprang a surprise on Detroit by tying the score in the ninth and winning out in the tenth, 5 to 4. Boston found the four hits they made off Faber inadequate to manufacture enough runs to beat Chicago and the White Sox were victors, 6 to 2. The Chicago Cubs, the Giants only serious challengers for the National League pennant, sustained two crushing blows in their third straight defeat at the hands of New York by a 7 to 0 score and the news that Grover Cleveland Alexander, ace of the Bruin's pitching staff, probably will be out of the game for the rest of the season with a fractured wrist.

As Chicago could do nothing with Barnes' delivery, the Giants found it a simple matter to apply the white wash brush.

Dickerman, recently traded by Brooklyn to St. Louis, obtained delicious revenge by shutting out his former team mates, 12 to 0. He let the Robins down with seven thinly spread hits.

The superiority of Carlson over Kremer and Stone was measured by Philadelphia's 3 to 1 win over Pittsburgh. Maranville of the Pirates handled his 191st fielding chance without an error. The mid second baseman has done his duty bravely in 19 consecutive games.

POOL MAY REMAIN IN HOSPITAL UNTIL MON.

RICHMOND, Va. July 14—Thomas G. Pool, former bank cashier of Virginia, who was recently convicted of embezzlement and sentenced to serve fifteen years in the penitentiary will be allowed to remain at least until Monday, in the hospital where he has been undergoing treatment since his indictment some time ago.

This announcement was made tonight following the weekly meeting of the state prison board which body failed to take action on the request of Pool's attorneys that he be allowed to remain where he is and not be moved to the hospital which has a contract for the care of state prisoners.

The prison board meets again next Monday and it is expected that some action on the request will be taken at that time.

Pool has been ill every since his indictment and at the time of his trial was carried into the courthouse on a stretcher.

The chief causes of crime are said to be the influence of evil associates, inherited disposition, drink, strong temptation plus favorable opportunity and poverty.

EGGS

China exports 1000 million eggs a year, says a U. S. government bulletin.

This traffic goes on in famine years the same as when Chinese crops are sufficient. Americans and others ship relief food into China's ports as eggs and other foods move out to foreign markets.

However, we'd have the same situation in America if we had a famine—unless the government stopped exports of food by declaring an embargo. "Bolshevism!" would be the wail of many plutocrats.

SPORTS

Old fogies, observing the tremendous crowds at baseball games, often comment that the country has gone crazy on sports.

The ancient Olympic games in Greece were held in a stadium that seated 40,000 spectators.

The Greeks, however, held their athletic meets only once every four years, in August. They wanted time to devote to improving their brains. Here we have baseball half the year and other sports the other half, with millions of people more interested in sports than anything else.

Americans do everything to excess.

Talking Honey

By G. L. FURGERSON

(No. 7)

There is as much difference in various kinds of honey as there is in the butter of different butter-makers. Or the milk from different dairies. Part of the difference is due to the skill and care with which honey is produced and marketed. Honey can readily be ruined by carelessness and indifference on the part of the bee-keeper.

The honey gathered from various flowers has all the difference in the world in flavor and eating quality. For example, honey from dandelion is so strong and yellow as to be fit for the feed of fowls from tobacco plants, which yield nectar abundantly, tastes of the tobacco. Buckwheat yields a heavy, dark, strong-flavored honey which many people like; others do not. Some southern flowers yield a dark honey of exceedingly fine flavor. Goldenrod yields a beautiful golden honey of fine flavor, somewhat stronger than the lighter honeys. Honey from horsemint carries a decidedly minty flavor.

You see, you can't always judge honey by color alone.

The clovers, inter-mountain alfalfa, white, sweet, white and sweet yellow, basswood and raspberry, and the California white sage, as well as orange are the finest honeys produced in the whole world.

Every locality where honey is produced has its own "best" product, which the people of that community have learned to relish, whether the honey be light or dark, mild or stronger-flavored. Such honey, if produced under favorable conditions, is good honey, regardless of color.

How was the division made?

Woman on Death Bed Is Suing Man

(By The Associated Press.)

NEWARK, N. J., July 14.—Lying on her death bed, a young woman, who even in her last illness, gave signs of having once been attractive, brought suit in Newark today against the man she says promised to marry her, in order that the money derived from the action might give her a decent burial.

The woman, Dora Rissis, is 28 years old, and according to the physicians at city hospital where she is, she has less than 14 days to live.

Her action for alleged breach of promise is for $25,000, the defense being that Rissis, owner of the Paradise Candy Company, also of Newark. According to the papers in the case, the young woman met Rissis four years ago. She was then living with relatives. Rissis, the papers relate, paid Rissis court and she finally consented to leave home.

In order to be near Rissis and be able to see him without interference, she obtained employment in a home, and the two were frequently in each other's company.

Rissis, in keeping with the Greek custom, gave her a marriage ring, the complaint alleges, and also an engagement ring and the girl had every reason to believe, it is declared, that she would wed soon.

But the date of the ceremony was postponed and finally, about a year ago, Rissis, it is set forth, wronged her. This so preyed upon her mind, it is asserted, that she became ill and finally contracted tuberculosis.

Rissis, it is charged, sent the girl to Michigan to recuperate, but failed to improve. At last, broken in spirit and disillusioned as to her marriage prospects and miserable in mind, the girl returned to find that Rissis had lost interest in her.

In her want, the girl received assistance from a charitable society.

Rissis was arrested several days ago and released on bond. Now Miss Rissis asks that he be compelled to pay $25,000 damages, so as to incur her having a decent burial.

MORNING STOCK LETTER.

(Thomson & McKinnon.)

NEW YORK, July 15.—For quite a while a lot of capital has been seeking investment in securities. But the supply of capital is not inexhaustible. Every time a million is invested there is a million less to come forward. So you can't count on this as a constant source of support. The next source of support is business. When business is good many individuals are willing to come into the market and invest part of their earnings. But you have no such condition now because you know, we all know, that business is not good. Our hope, of course, is that this will improve later on. How far should a market go in anticipating this? We have none such advance that I think it is time to be a little on the watch. There are a few high fliers in the stock list but the public I don't think want another Stutz or another Piggy Wiggle.

I believe the proper thing to do now is to take advantage of strength to reduce than increase commitments.

DAVIS LAYS HIS SUCCESS TO HORSESHOE HE GOT WHEN BOY

(Copyright 1924 by The Bee.)

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., July 15.—Ever since Esau swapped his birthright for his brother's mess of pottage, trading "good" for "better" or "worse" has been the unquenchable privilege and aim of man. If John W. Davis ever becomes president of the United States he'll lay it to the first trade he ever made—and a souvenir lucky horseshoe taken from the pony companion of his twelve year old days.

When Dorcas Cork found himself standing in Third Street some forty years ago, clutching the halter of a Jersey heifer while John Davis vanished up the hill to his father's place on the back of the pony with which Dorcas had sworn he never would part, Cork prophesied that John would be a great man some day.

His eloquence would win, he said. After the pony was outworn and sold John tucked one of its shoes into his shirt front, claiming it would bring him luck. Naïvely to the wall of Clarksbury room, he says, it has played a large part in the "why" of Davis, the lecturer, congressman, ambassador and presidential nominee. It never left its place of honor until the convention opened in New York recently, when it journeyed to Davis Nan, Emma and Lily and the dogs which guarded the house. He never ventured to the streets to play with other boys. That would have been undignified—and was against his father's rules.

The boys, George Duncan, Hugh Jarvis, Earl Vance and Dorcas Cork, who later were his special pals, seldom saw him then except as he, immaculately dressed, sat in a stiff backed chair on the porch of the big yellow house, reading literary books or studying Latin and Greek.

But when the elder Davis went to town, or when he was in his den, the kitchen door developed a habit of opening quietly to pass a bay with shoes and stockings in his hands, who quietly stole over the hill to the rear and onto a great pile of soft earth, which filtered delightfully between bare toes—a rare, forbidden joy. Often his violin went with him—he loved to play in the open.

With the trade of heifer for pony, Davis, the man of affairs, was born. Soon after, John entered school and met the boys of the town. At twelve he saw his first game of baseball. And followed shortly the organization of the East India Company. John W. Davis, president, which built a line of sail boats some eight inches long and carried on extensive commerce in leaves, small sticks and insects between two stations on a stream that was hidden from the house.

Dorcas "minds himself" how he used to watch enviously while John on the pony that had once been his, directed the old negro Gabe, on how to drive the cows to pasture. For his father's hobby was raising fine cattle. And now and again, John's eloquence would win Gabe's permission to take a horse down to Bud Sier's to be shod.

"From the day John entered Geo. Young's private school when he was 12 years old, he knew he was the smarter boy in town." Dow J. W. Johnston enthusiastically claimed today.

"We could have told the country then that he was presidential makings and the doctor fanned himself with the tattered Panama hat he had crushed to his roofing for John W. at Madison Square Garden last week.

"I guess his father knew it, too, when he finally let him go into politics," the doctor concluded energetically. "He'd have been dumb not to."
